Our House - by Hattie Whitehead, Howard Rose & Max Runham

Written by - Graham Nash

RELEASE DATE : 18th December

FORMAT: Digital

LABEL: Nova Records

GENRE : Classic, West Coast American Folk/Rock

Put together in Lockdown #1, 'Our House' is a collaboration Nova arranged between 3 of its finest artists, Hattie Whitehead, Howard Rose and Max Runham. Created remotely from their respective lockdowns, the track is a triumphant take on the Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young timeless classic which has been sensitively and evocatively produced by the mighty Howard Rose, with crystalline honeyed vocals and guitar parts from the ever mesmerising Hattie Whitehead and finally completed with bv's and guitar fills from extraordinarily talented Max Runham.

To accompany what is an absolutely triumphant version of this time-honoured tune, we put together a video compiled of snippets of what people across the world were getting up to in Lockdown#1. The track has proven to be a real tonic during such a tumultuous time and feels like a wonderful and uplifting snapshot of a moment in time none of us will ever forget.

Here Graham Nash describes how the song came to being and the 'ordinary' moment shared between himself and Joni Mitchell, two very unordinary people. "It was a kind of a cold gray morning as it sometimes can be in Los Angeles, and I said, 'Why don't I light the fire and you put some flowers in the vase that you just bought.'" So she's cutting stems and leaves and arranging flowers in this vase, and I'd lit the fire. Now, my and Joan's life at the time were far from ordinary ... and I thought, 'What an ordinary moment.' Here I am lighting the fire for my old lady and she's putting flowers in this vase that she just bought. And I sat down at Joan's piano and an hour later, 'Our House' was written.
